ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A method for concealing errors in an audio signal includes digitally encoding the audio signal into a plurality of audio data packets representative of the audio signal; determining a perceptually tolerable distortion limit for the audio packets; and altering a value of at least one audio packet by an amount within the perceptually tolerable distortion limit utilizing information representative of a different audio data packet.